Raising a child while navigating a PhD

Melanie Generali did her Master in Biology at UZH. During her PhD studies Robertino was born, Elia shortly after her PhD defense. She is continuing her research at the Institute for Regenerative Medicine as postdoc.

Sergey Yakushev studied biochemistry at the Lomonosow State University Moscow and graduated 2012 at UZH. Runa was born towards the end of his PhD studies in Veterinary Physiology. He is now the father of two kids and works in an executive position at Microsynth AG, St. Gallen.

Ivana Pavik Mezzour studied biochemistry at UZH. During her PhD studies at the Institute of Physiology, Noah was born. Ilias followed 2 years later. She has continued her career in the pharma industry and is now Associate Director Marketing at Alexion Pharma GmbH in Zürich.

The talks will be followed by an apéro where the current imMed students and the imMed alumni have the opportunity to meet, catch up and network.
