Induced Pluripotency: Challenges and Oppor- tunities for Regenerative Medicine

The increase in life expectancy we have witnessed over the past century, it is also responsible for the rising incidence of chronic and degenerative diseases. The properties of pluripotent stem cells (PSC) offer an attractive strategy to address some of the health issues from an aged population. In this seminar we will re-evaluate claims of immunogenicity and offer to the field of immunotherapy.

The presentation is followed by an aperitif and - for a limited number of students - by a dinner with the speaker. For the dinner, contact jerryhartanto.fuady@uzh.ch not later than June 24, 2014 by explaining why you would like to meet the speaker.
